

Mrs. Pilar Jurado Borrego

Director General Customs of Spain

National Finances Inspector since 1992, she has developed her professional career from different positions within the Central Agency for Tax Administration (AEAT), in the area of Customs and Excise, both at the central services (Risk Analysis Unit, Head of the National Investigation Office and Deputy Director General for Excise Management and Intervention), and at regional level (Head of Seville Customs Office and Head of Madrid Provincial Customs Office).

She has participated in many international and EU meetings, in different Committees and working groups on customs and excise matters. She has also carried out technical assistance collaborations with Latin American customs administrations as well as with European ones, and has participated in WCO meetings. Within the EU, the works she carried out in the area of risk analysis, customs controls and excise regulation should be mentioned.

Currently, she is the Director of the Customs and Excise Department of the AEAT, being responsible of the customs and excise administration, which has more than 4000 civil servants, distributed along the Spanish territory, who deal with the facilitation and control of the external commerce and the management of excise duties.